In 1995, the International Weightlifting Federation – Masters Committee adopted a new scoring method called the “Sinclair / Malone-Meltzer” (SMM) scoring system. Since that time, only fifty eight (58) Masters Weightlifters have ever scored 400 or more points at World (W), European (E), or Pan American (P) Weightlifting Championships. According to this ranking system, these fifty eight 58 lifters are the top-performing Masters in the world.
